

Multi-talented artist has a lot to offer

(Kansas City, MO) His work is kind of, well... different! In all honesty, that title should only apply to Tracy's digital abstract images, so compelling that you want to His fine art photography is truly exceptional and did I forget to mention his portrait photography? That side of his business is what allows Tracy to spend more time on creating one of a kind digital art works and his fine art photography. He is an accomplished portrait photographer with a keen eye and an uncanny ability to capture raw emotion and candid expression. Wait! And if that weren't enough, Tracy's images have appeared in several sports related publications.

It's an interesting story of a naturally talented visual artist and performance artist, playing bass guitar on the side as well. You see, Tracy doesn't have any formal training in photography, but his instincts to create were always there. As a young man, Tracy studied Painting and sculpture and went on to study at Kansas City Art institute. His abstract paintings from that era were at once haunting and perplexing to behold. At that time of his life his focus became music and the making thereof. His passion for visual art lay dormant for many years, until his father in law gave him a 35mm camera for Christmas in 1999.

At the age of 36, his passion was rekindled. Within two years he was shooting professionally.

For the past 5 years, he has focused his attention on creating fine art photographs and digital abstract images. His images convey a range of emotion that is at once subtle and vast. Revealing and mysterious. Dark and joyful. "To view his works is to look into your own soul...and sometimes into his!"
